Early Copy-Editing Experiment

- 3 of 6 documents edited during Sept. and Oct. 2005 have entered the RFC Editor queue
 - 1 of those 3 has been published as an RFC
 - In general, there are a few pages of added text and a few pages of deleted text between the early edit version and approved version.
 - Second reading yields edits to old text and new text.
 - More benefit during AUTH48 than regular EDIT (based on one AUTH48 so far).

- AUTH48
 - Improved timeliness in author responses.
 - IESG use of RFC Editor Notes
 - Special instructions to the RFC Editor are getting excessive; they should be used for minor changes.
 - More efficient to approve the updated document.
 - Make sure notes are appended to document actions.
